

Paulette,

I thought I would just personally share with you that I believe the proposal circulated in the past couple of days to add a social and behavioral sciences gen ed designator is a good one, and that this is the moment to seize on the idea given the momentum to make some changes. I think that this would round out the comprehensive nature of gen ed and that it would bring departments into the fold-- including my own-- that have felt somewhat slighted and left out in the current structure. I'd welcome sharing more in depth thoughts, but perhaps this conveys enough.

Will
